THE WHITNEY MUSEUM OF AMERICAN ART in holding its Second Biennial Exhibition of Contemporary American Sculpture, Watercolors and Prints, has departed from its original plan inaugurated in 1932 by dividing the exhibition into two consecutive parts, the first being devoted to sculpture, drawings and prints; and the second, which will be on view from February 18th to March 18th, to watercolors and pastels. This division of the exhibition has made it possible to include sixty-five sculptors which is an increase of eighteen over the first sculpture exhibition.

As in our previous biennials, no prizes will be awarded, and again the sum of twenty thousand dollars has been set aside for the purchase of works of outstanding excellence from the exhibition including Parts I and II.

Very recently the world of art has suffered the loss of a distinguished sculptor, Gaston Lachaise; and as Mr. Lachaise had accepted the Museum's invitation to exhibit, the work which he had intended to send is included.

We believe that the exhibition represents in a broad way the most notable characteristics of American sculpture and graphic arts of today. Our thanks are extended to the exhibiting artists for their generous co-operation.
